Primaries of the "American" party, which were held last night, indicated that the foregoing slate will be nominated in the "American" party county convention which will meet Saturday norning at 10 o'clock in the Salt Lake theatre. The slate here given does not complete the roster of county officers, but it does include the chief men for whom the leaders of the "American" leaders will make a fight.

It is a significant fact that the attendance at the "American" primaries last night was greater than the attendance at the Republican primaries which were held last Friday night. Indications, judging from the primaries, are that the county fight will be waged D. on election day between the Democratic and "American" parties, with the Republican party third in the race, as it was in the city election one year ago.

Senator Zayas said he had been asked not to talk about the conference, but asserted that he had been urged to use his influence in all possible ways to stop fighting. He said he feared he would be unable to reach distant insurgent camps in time, and pointed out that the attack by a government force on the insurgents under Tello Sanchez at Sancti Spiritus on Tuesday was a violation of the government's armistice. Senator Zayas related to Secretary Taft the efforts he had made for the relief of liberals arrested as conspirators, and Mr. Taft informed him that President Palma had stated that the prisoners under indictment would be never, they had not been released.

Following his visit to President Palma Secretary Taft boarded the cruiser Denver to return Commander Colwell's call. He found there Senator Zayas awaiting him under a prearrangement with Commander Colwell, and thus cordial relations were established both with the palace and with the revolutionists. Senator Zayas had on Tuesday sent a letter to Secretary Taft Stanley M. Brown, Ellis Black, James Anstenday, James A tionists. Senator Zayas had on Tuesday sent a letter to Secretary Taft through Charge d'affaires Sleeper, tendering him his greetings. Important matters in connection with the service were disposed of.

Tonight the members, who included the members was held in this city today. Important matters in connection with these other insane words which no man addicted to the simple Christian life can try to spell and not lose some of the bloom of his piety in the demoralizing attempt. Do not doubt it. We are chained to the simple christian life can try to spell and not lose some of the bloom of his piety in the demoralizing attempt. leons, and our partialities and prejudices change places with an easy and blessed facility, and we are soon wonted to change and happy in it. We do not regret our old yellow fangs and snags and tushes after we have worn nice fresh uni-form store teeth awhile.

Some Quiet Sarcasm.

"Do I seem to be seeking the good of the world? That is the idea. It is my public attitude; privately I am merely seeking my own profit. We all do it, but seeking my own profit. We all do it, but it is sound and it is virtuous, for no public interest is anything other or nobler than amassed accumulation of private interests. In 1883, when the simplified spelling movement first tried to make a noise I was indifferent to it. More, I even irrelevantly scoffed at it. What I needed was an object lesson, and I got it."
Here the speaker related an anecdote of having once been required to write ten pages of copy for a magazine where words of not less than ten to twenty letters were employed, at 7 cents a word, thereby suffering great pecuniary loss,

"From that day to this I have been a devoted and hard-working member of the heaven-born institution, the international association for the prevention of cruelty o authors, and now I am laboring with 'arnegie's simplified committee, and with my heart in the work

this would have much interest for me personally, because, in a little while that I have got to remain here, I can get along very well with these old-fashfoned forms, and I don't propose to make any trouble about it at all; I shall soon be where they won't care how I spell as long as I keep the Sabbath. There are $2,000,000 millions of people that use this orthography and it ought to be simplified in our behalf, but it is kept in its present condition to satisfy 1,000,000 of people who like to have their literature in the old form. That looks to me to be rather selfish, and we keep the forms as they are while we have got a million records coming in hore from nations in behalf of the simplified spell- got a million people coming in here from ing. I have come here because they foreign countries every month and they have got to struggle with this orthograph

In conclusion Mark Twain said:
"Now you see before you the wreck and ruin of what was once a young person like yourself. I am exhausted by heat of the day; I must take what is left of this wreck, run out of your presence and carry it away to my home and spread it there and sleep the sleep of the righteous. There is nothing much left of me but my age and my righteousness, but I leave with you my love and blessing, and may you always keep your youth." (Prolonged

Park City, Sept. 19.—The intermountain Amusement company have about completed their fine new building in which a skating rink is to be installed. The building is 112 feet long by 65 feet wide, and the floor is laid with maple, banked at each end and on turns so that the best possible results are to be obtained from a skating standpoint. When the building is opened to the public there will be no rink its equal in the state.

JEWS CELEBRATE THEIR NEW YEAR

"Every day of the 365 the only pages Services Held in First Congregational Church Owing to Darkness of Synagogue.

SERMON BY RABBI FREUND

SPECIAL SONG PROGRAM IS CAR-RIED OUT.

The opening of the Jewish New Year was celebrated in the First Congregational church jast night, the services commencing at sunset. The Temple B'nai Israel could not be used last night on account of the lights being cut off. At the last moment Rabbi Freund secured the Congregational church gregationalists for the use of their build gregationalists for the use of their building. The auditorium of the church was filled and special song service was rendered. Charles Kent sang a solo, entitled "Kind Words." Following the song service Rabbi Charles J. Freund deliver an address, in which he said:

"Open for me the gates of righteousness, that I may enter through them to praise the Lord." It is more than fitting that our words of greeting to you on this that our words of greeting to you on this opening day of our great religious festal cycle should be those of Israel's sweet singer. "Open for each one of us ye doors that close from view the doings of the past, and which shall present to gaze the events that are to be. Open for us. ye portals of hope, of yearning, of desire for the things which are beneficial to mankind. In a word, let the entrance to the future be widely open for each of us, that our efforts may bless mankind."

"Once again do we find ourselves 'neath the sway and spell of the awe-inspiring days—days unequaled in majesty or potency by any in the calendar reckoning of mankind. By them men and women are set to things, and life's meaning and purpose take on a new aspect. hat our words of greeting to you on this purpose take on a new aspect

New Year Baliefs.

"Rabbinic fancy has given free play to imagination in the things connected with the New Year. In crude picture God is represented as opening at this season of the year the ledgers in which are recorded men's doings, and their fates. The names of the righteous are immediately inscribed and they are scaled 'to live.' The middle class, consisting of those neither extremely righteous nor yet absolutely wicked, are given a respite of ten days till the Day of Atonement, to repent and become righteous. The wicked are blotted become righteous. The wicked are blotted out of the 'book of the living.' And this bit of fancy can, with profit, be presented to that class, who are ever really will the plaint that what has been will be "And when we enter those gates of righteousness it is to praise the Lord to take uncomplainingly whatever of good or evil may be in store for us-to suffer unmurmuringly at the things which may not befall us, whether to our liking or not-yes, also to help on and foster the work of humanity-whether it be by tending the sick and poor, or helping those who have faltered in the fight or sunk in the struggle-in a word, we shall praise God not only with the words of mouth—"for praise is ever comely"— but our conduct shall ever be the praise which is meet and proper

Message of Cheer.

"This, our New Year, brings its mesto him who may have tasted of the cur to him who may have tasted of the cup of sorrow, of encouragement to those who by failure are likely to despair, of desire for further effort to those who saw fond hopes shattered. To him who has prospered it urges constancy for renewed strength in battle. "Not failure, but low aim is crime." Setbacks and disappointments are but spurs to the better fighting of life's battle. Victory cometh not at the summons of idle tears, but only at the call of self-reliant joy, joy only at the call of self-reliant joy, joy sanctified by religion, made holy by faith and hope, which can ever exclaim: "Open for me the gates of righteousness that that I may enter them to praise the Lord.' Amen." TO SOUND KEYNOTE

PARLEY P. BEAT HOWELL. Had Big Lead Over Him in Election

Two Years Ago. Friends of County Attorney Parley P. Christensen point out that in the election two years ago, when both Mr. Christensen and Congressman Joseph Howell were running for office, Mr. Christensen defeated his Democratic opponent by z. plurality of 5,034, whereas Mr. Howell was only 3,294 ahead of his opponent, a difference in favor of Mr. Christensen of 1,740. On this basis they declare that Mr. Christensen would poll a heavier vote, if norninated for congress, than Mr. Howell.
